WEDDING BROCHURE

CLIFF
HOUSE HOTEL

The Venue

Steeped in history and carved into the Irish coastline beside the fishing village of Ardmore in County Waterford, the Cliff House Hotel is a chic boutique hotel that is full of personality and signature ocean features that lends itself to be the ideal location for your once in a lifetime wedding celebration.

Civil ceremonies up to and including 40 people can be catered for in the North Pavilion room which overlooks Ardmore Bay. Applications for your ceremony should be made at least three months before your preferred wedding date, however, it is advisable to apply as far in advance as possible to guarantee requested dates to the Health Services Executive Office.

We will complete a declaration form for each individual application and also ensure that the standards set out by the Health Service Executive Civil Registration Office are adhered to at all times. All fees should be discussed directly with the Health Services Executive Civil Registration Office.

The Health Services Executive Civil Registration Office can be contacted on 058-20900 and you can speak directly to Mary Lyons.

The Venue

There are three options to choose from with regard to hosting your wedding at the hotel.

NORTH PAVILION PRIVATE DINING ROOM

This room is designed to seat up to 30 people comfortably. The pre-dinner reception can be held in either the residents lounge, main bar or outside on its own private terrace and after dinner entertainment can be arranged in the North Pavilion. The North Pavilion is also best suited to hosting the civil ceremony if required.

THE HOUSE RESTAURANT

The House Restaurant can seat a maximum of 40 people.

The House Restaurant can be booked for a private wedding on the nights that the restaurant is normally closed – usually Sunday to Tuesday depending on the season. Pre-dinner reception and after dinner entertainment can be hosted in the North Pavilion.

Accommodation

Every wedding at Cliff House Hotel is unique, depending on your numbers and time of year a minimum amount of rooms are required.

All thirty-nine bedrooms look out to sea, many with their own private balcony. The bespoke rooms are styled with Campaign antiques and oversized furniture upholstered in modern linens and tweeds. Beds are back lit with unique headboards designed by a number of local artists using indigenous Irish materials such as linen, glass and dried petals.

The bathrooms are a real treat to the eye with luscious coloured mosaic tiles and vibrantly coloured glass, which smartly contrast with the granite grey stone characteristic of the hotel.

Luxury bath products sit easily atop the egg-shaped floor standing baths; while in the Cliff Veranda Suites, you can shower quite literally under the stars as the enclosed glass surround extends onto the Veranda.

Should you wish to book a civil ceremony you will need to contact the local registrar, Mary Lyons who is located in the nearby town of Dungarvan.
